“Redbubble continued to scale strongly during the first quarter with revenue up 33.6% on a constant currency basis compared to the same quarter last year.

“Our marketplace continues to attract more artists and customers globally with solid margins and low customer acquisition costs. As forecast, the business is moving towards profitability as it scales and gets the benefits of operational leverage.

“The scaling of the business, that is revenue growing faster than expenses, is evidenced by the [unaudited] financial results for the quarter, which are in line with our FY17 Prospectus forecast, despite the impact of a stronger Australian dollar.

“Our first quarter also delivered strong growth in the top line of 14.2% on a constant currency basis versus the last quarter of FY16, with improved margins relative to forecast and lower than forecast operating expenses.”
