

Litigation Update

Melbourne, Australia: 24 June 2021: Redbubble Limited (ASX:RBL) notes that today its US subsidiary, Redbubble Inc, received a jury verdict in an ongoing piece of litigation commenced by US fashion retailer Brandy Melville in California, relating to alleged intellectual property infringement. The jury verdict included an award for US$520,000. The jury's decision is limited to the facts of the Brandy Melville case.

Redbubble also notes that, in US court proceedings, this is but one step in the overall litigation and a number of possible steps remain before the claim is finally concluded. Redbubble believes that certain critical findings were not supported by the evidence offered at trial and will be asking the court for relief from the verdict on that basis. Redbubble remains confident in its position and will continue to vigorously pursue its defence of the claims.

This announcement was authorised for lodgment by Redbubble Limited's Disclosure Committee.

For further information, please contact:

Louise Lambeth – Head of Investor Relations

louise.lambeth@redbubble.com

About Redbubble Group

Founded in 2006, the Redbubble Group incorporates Redbubble Limited and its subsidiaries, including TP Apparel LLC (TeePublic). The Redbubble Group owns and operates the leading global online marketplaces, Redbubble.com and TeePublic.com, powered by independent artists. The Redbubble community of passionate creatives sell uncommon designs on high-quality, everyday products such as apparel, stationery, housewares, bags, wall art and so on. Through the Redbubble and TeePublic marketplaces, independent artists are able to profit from their creativity and reach a new universe of adoring fans. For customers, it's the ultimate in self-expression. A simple but meaningful way to show the world who they are and what they care about.